Student Internship Experience

May 9, 2007, Wednesday, 12:30 PM – 1:45 PM

Coach House 101 B

Speaker: Deanna Holmes

Topic: Point-of-Sales (POS) System

Deanna is a senior in Computer Science. She will present her experience doing an internship at Stockwell Design Group in the spring semester of 2007. During her internship, she assisted a team in developing a Point-of-Sales system for the Wine and Spirit industry. With the help of her supervisor and experienced team members, they were able to develop a complete POS system that was written in VisualBasic.Net using the Visual Studio 2005 environment.

Her talk will include information about Stockwell Design Group; summaries of the different projects she worked on; how she was able to contribute as a team player; and what she had learned while working as an intern.

All are welcome.

For further information, please contact Dr. Gilbert Ndjatou (ext. 2515), ndjatoug@wpunj.edu, Dr. Erh-Wen Hu (ext. 2196), hue@wpunj.edu, or Dr. Cyril S. Ku (ext. 3719), kuc@wpunj.edu.